FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Colorado Roofing Association Announces the Sixth Consecutive Dividend for its Safety Group Program!

Innovative Workers' Compensation Program Rewards Safety and Performance

The Colorado Roofing Association in partnership with Moody Insurance Agency and Pinnacol Assurance has announced a $313,800 dividend -- an increase of $99,399 over last year's dividend -- for 19 members of its Colorado Roofing Association Workers' Compensation Program!

The dividend is for the 2003-2004 policy year and is the sixth consecutive annual dividend. Dividends are issued to participating contractor and supplier members of the Colorado Roofing Association Workers' Compensation Program who meet standards for safety and compliance. Since starting the program in 1998, the group has declared more than $2.29 million in dividends for participating program members. The average dividend per member equals 15 percent of the annual insurance premiums.

"We designed this program to provide additional loss control services, specialized claims management and an up-front premium savings for a very tough segment of the insurance industry." Said Brad Moody, executive vice president of Moody Insurance Agency. "While encouraging improved worksite safety, participating members can realize significant cost savings and create a competitive advantage. It is a proactive and time-tested approach to reducing insurance costs."

The Colorado Roofing Association Workers' Compensation Program, managed by Moody Insurance Agency, was created to take advantage of the preferred pricing offered to association programs by Pinnacle Assurance. The program is offered to contractors who can meet stringent participation criteria. There are currently 30 program members.
