FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Colorado Roofing Association Announces Award Winners.

D&D Roofing took First Place in Division I with their fine work on the historic re-roofing of the 430 Years Church of God in Christ in Denver, Colorado.

Boulder Roofing received Second Place in Division I for its work on a custom single-family residence at 75 Circle Drive in Boulder, Colorado.

First place in Division II was earned by B&M Roofing of Colorado for their custom metal roof on a private residence in Boulder, Colorado.

The second place winner in Division II goes to Front Range Roofing Systems for the repairs on the Western Sugar plant in Fort Morgan, Colorado. The repairs were a result of an explosion at the plant in November 2004.

First Place in Division III this year resulted in a tie. Black Roofing won for their job on the Atlas Building at the University of Colorado in Boulder. The project consisted of four totally different roof applications. Sharing First Place in Division III is Arapahoe Roofing & Sheet Metal for its work on the Philmont Boy Scout Ranch in Cimarron, New Mexico. They completed a seamless makeover to the underlayment system -- all while managing to reinstall each piece of the original Ludowici tile roof to the exact same location as before.

Second Place in Division III goes to D&D Roofing for their 8-month job on the re-roof of a downtown high rise, The Executive Tower in Denver, Colorado.

Black Roofing took First Place in Division IV for the massive steep and flat slope roofing system on St. Andrews Village Project at Heather Gardens in Boulder, Colorado.

Arapahoe Roofing & Sheet Metal received Second Place in Division IV for their work on Concourse B at Denver International Airport. They managed to complete this extremely challenging project while complying with the many security restrictions the job entailed.
